IMPORTANT JUDGEMENTS

SUPREME COURT OF INDIA

- The appropriate government can correct clerical or arithmetical mistakes by fixing or revising minimum wages.
- Whether a workman was gainfully employed or not is a question of fact and hence cannot be interfered with.
- Once retrenchment are set aside, the workmen will be entitled to continuity of service with back wages.

ALLAHABAD HIGH COURT

- The burden to establish a Master-Servant relationship lies on the workman and not the employer.
- Non-production of documents as directed by the EPF Authority amounts to non-cooperation.

CHHATTISGARH HIGH COURT

- While imposing damages, the authorities should consider the number of defaults, the period and reasons for the delay, the frequency of default and the amount involved.

IMPORTANT JUDGEMENTS (CONTD.)

DELHI HIGH COURT

- Transfer of an employee cannot be interfered with by the Courts unless same is mala fide.
- Considering the length of service and about 12 years of litigation, compensation is enhanced to Rs.10 lakhs.
- Compensation in lieu of reinstatement depends on the nature of employment, length of service, and the time lapse between the cessation of employment and the final order.
- Workman is not punished for the delay in litigation, but Courts must take a pragmatic view.
- Building & Other Construction Workers Welfare Cess Rules do not contain provisions for waiver or reduction.
- Reinstatement can be granted only in exceptional cases even if termination is wrongful.

GUJARAT HIGH COURT

- Termination of a probationer on completion of the extended period of probation is not retrenchment.

IMPORTANT JUDGEMENTS (CONTD.)

JAMMU AND KASHMIR HIGH COURT

- When a screen shot of an obscene phone call did not show the number, the accused cannot be held guilty.

KARNATAKA HIGH COURT

- Prosecution under section 92 of the Factories Act is not permissible if acquitted in criminal proceedings.
- Loss for three consecutive financial years shall be a ground to withdraw exemption under Act.

KERALA HIGH COURT

- Where the allowance is universally and ordinarily paid to all employees, such emoluments are 'basic wages'.
- Special allowances, like HR and conveyance paid to some employees, will not be 'basic wages'.
- Delay for filing an appeal can be condoned up to a further 60 days subject to sufficient cause.
- If the employer does not raise objection against report of the Enforcement Officer, that will be taken as justified.
- Any variable earning from individual to individual will be excluded from 'basic wages'.

IMPORTANT JUDGEMENTS (CONTD.)

MADHYA PRADESH HIGH COURT

- Assessment of EPF contributions without identifying beneficiaries is not sustainable.

MADRAS HIGH COURT

- The appropriate government can correct clerical or arithmetical mistakes by fixing or revising minimum wages.
- An objection that domestic enquiry was not fair or proper, Labour Court has to decide as a preliminary issue.
- Overtime paid to workmen who worked on weekly off days, is not basic wages for EPF contributions.
- The Act will continue to be effective even though the employees' number is reduced below 20.
- Challenging show cause notice in a writ petition is not maintainable.
- Employees engaged directly or indirectly are coverable under the Act.
- EPF Authority has no power to condone the delay for the review petition beyond 45 days.

IMPORTANT JUDGEMENTS (CONTD.)

ORISSA HIGH COURT

- Criminal proceedings under the Payment of Wages Act for implementation of the award are not tenable.
- Either appeal or review is the remedy to challenge an order u/s 7A of the Act.

TELANGANA HIGH COURT

- Non-production of documents in possession of the employer will justify adverse inference against him.

TRIPURA HIGH COURT

- Review petition if not filed in prescribed Form is liable to be rejected.
